

Generation Change – PROFILAN remains a Family-run Business

The corporate succession which had been announced on the occasion of the company's 20th anniversary in 2019 has now been completed.

With immediate effect Bernd Rosing (state-certified technician) and Marco Hilbring (banker and business economist - MBA) are Managing Directors of PROFILAN Kunststoffwerk GmbH & Co. KG. Hence, the company remains family-run.

Both gentlemen have been members of the Management team for several years with responsibilities in Production and Engineering as well as Finance and Organisation. With Thomas Schall (state-certified economist) as Sales Manager the Management team is complete and well positioned for the future.

Together they are looking forward to the exciting tasks and challenges that the future may hold for them.

Consequently, the two founding partners Hubert Rosing and Werner Wöhrmann have set the course for a good and promising future. They will both be still available to give advice to the new Management and they would be glad if you, either as customer or supplier, would continue the long-term and trustful business relationship with the new Management. We wish the new Management team all the best and continued success.
